Begin by reading TEXT ONLY side first.

The 95 Decodable Duo™ books were developed to align with the best practices in the science of reading. They are designed to help students sharpen their decoding skills as they read the TEXT ONLY version first. After they've mastered the sound-spelling relationships in the 95 Decodable Duo, students flip the book over to enjoy the same story with fun, engaging illustrations. The strategic design of these decodables reinforces effective decoding habits; students must rely on their sound-spelling knowledge to read the text.

Once students have had the opportunity to reinforce their decoding skills, allow them to FLIP IT and continue practicing—independently or with a buddy—enjoying the text with the colorful illustrations.

The Frog Trap

Text Only

Frogs are fun to trap.

Can you make a frog
trap to grab a frog?

Here are the steps
to make a frog trap.

Grip the brim of a big tub and drag it to the spot.

Then, grab a slat to prop up the tub.

The slat will let the frog in but will drop to trap the frog.

At dusk, set up
the trap.

To trip the frog,
drop a grub on
the trap.

Frogs are bred to like grubs.

You want the frog
to grab the grub.

Last, trek to the trap
to see the frog.

You can grin.
The trap got a frog.

In the printed book,
after finishing the text only version, the reader flips the book
to start reading with pictures, reinforcing developing skills.
